Premium hazelnuts from Akçakoca on Türkiye's Black Sea coast.

AKÇAKOCA, TÜRKİYE · KENYA & EAST AFRICA

What AKCANUT stands for

AKCANUT is a premium, single-origin hazelnut brand built around a real place, a family orchard and a direct producer-to-market story. It brings raw natural hazelnut kernels from Akçakoca to premium retail, hotels and specialty food buyers in Kenya and East Africa.

HERITAGE

AKÇA

The historical silver coin reference connects the name to heritage, value and the Akçakoca story.

CATEGORY

NUT

A simple international word makes the product immediately understandable across export markets.

ORIGIN

Named place, registered origin and a story anchored in Akçakoca.

NATURE

Black Sea hills, orchards and a product kept raw, natural and simple.

TRUST

Direct supply, lot testing and clear product specifications for trade buyers.

POSITIONING

“Single-origin Black Sea hazelnuts, directly from the growers who know the orchard.”

The brand should feel restrained and confident: premium without becoming ornamental, rooted in origin without looking old-fashioned.

From the Black Sea hills

The family has grown hazelnuts in Akçakoca for generations. The existing supply profile describes a 4-5 tonne annual in-shell harvest from the family orchard, with neighbouring growers in the same district available to support additional supply when needed.

REGISTERED ORIGIN

The supplied commercial document identifies Akçakoca Sarı Fındığı as a registered geographical origin in Türkiye (registered 2019).

A mark built from the landscape

The selected logo compresses the product and its place of origin into one compact symbol: hazelnut, hills and Black Sea. It remains distinctive when reduced to an icon or printed on a carton stamp.

● HAZELNUT SHELL

The outer brown contour gives the mark an immediate product cue and a warm food character.

● AKÇAKOCA HILLS

Layered green forms reference orchard slopes and the agricultural landscape.

● BLACK SEA

The two lower waves locate the story geographically and add movement without illustration-heavy detail.

● WORDMARK

An all-caps serif wordmark adds confidence, heritage and shelf presence.

Typography direction

Use a refined serif for headlines and brand storytelling; pair it with a clean sans-serif for specifications, trade documents and labels. Keep hierarchy spacious and avoid decorative food-brand clichés.

RULE OF THUMB

If the logo feels busy at small size, remove copy before adding decoration.

Built to work small

The identity should survive real export conditions: vacuum packs, carton labels, hotel sample packs and one-colour stamps. The logo remains the hero; origin and product facts do the selling.

BRAND VOICE

Factual. Origin-led. Quietly premium.

Avoid exaggerated wellness claims, rustic clichés and decorative language that weakens trust.

From Akçakoca to East Africa

AKCANUT is designed to make provenance visible: a named Black Sea origin, a family orchard, a clear product standard and direct support for the buyer. The supplied commercial profile also notes a Kenyan family connection, allowing in-person tastings, hotel visits and launch support in Nairobi.

1 NAMED ORIGIN

Akçakoca gives the product a specific place rather than a generic “Turkish hazelnut” story.

2 DIRECT STORY

The grower, orchard, harvest and product can all be shown consistently in sales material.

3 TRADE READY

Lot testing, clear specifications and vacuum packing support premium hospitality and retail channels.

4 LOCAL LAUNCH

The Nairobi connection gives the brand an unusually human bridge between origin and market.

MESSAGE BANK

From the Black Sea hills of Akçakoca.

Single origin. Family grown. Lot tested.

A Turkish hazelnut with a place, a family and a story.
